INDIANAPOLIS, IN – Volunteers from the Indy 76 leadership team will be celebrating this 4th of July by making a big difference in their community. And, they are inviting others in the community to join them.

Ashley Tucker, an Indy 76 member and project organizer said, “We are really excited to participate in this community service project. We have already enrolled several contractors and landscaping crews, and we’re working with local stores to ask for donations this week. It is really exciting to be able to give back to an organization that means so much to our community!”

The project to benefit Peace Learning Center will take place on Saturday, July 5 and Sunday, July 6 and the following weekend on Saturday, July 12 and Sunday, July 13 from 12 to 7 pm each day. Those interested in joining or supporting their project can learn more at the following blog post:

The project began when the group was tasked on June 22nd with a new mission to create a community service project for an organization with a mission they valued, and then to provide support as well as leave a lasting monument (memorial/tribute) somewhere on the space they improved. Previous VIA groups have built playgrounds for children’s organizations, built picnic tables for community organizations, and improved living spaces for homeless veterans.

Those who are unable to contribute time and bring materials, but would still like to contribute to their efforts, can make a secure monetary donation to their Indie GoGo campaign via the following link:
